Invites you to celebrate
Valentine's Day at her

Savvy Women Club Event
"Financially Smart, Financially Strong"

For generations, women typically weren't educated on matters of investing and finance – at home or in school. Parents were reluctant to share family finances or spend time teaching their daughters to be financially independent.

Today, women are breaking through the final barrier to financial empowerment. Women continue to revolutionize their role with money and power. As women pioneer new relationships to money, they are venturing into unknown territory and may ask themselves:

- Exactly what role should I assume?
- How should I communicate about money?

Attend my Savvy Women Club Event and learn:

- Your unique Financial Personality Type
- A fresh new way of thinking about your Financial Life
